

Activity Kit

PUG meets PIG

Sue Lowell Gallion

Illustrated by Joyce Wan

Pug is happy at home with his bowl, his yard, and his bed.
But then Pig arrives . . .

Sue Lowell Gallion and Joyce Wan's charming tale about making room for a new friend will delight young readers.

★“Pug is not happy,” writes first-time picture book author Gallion in her sublimely economic, emotionally resonant text, which is also simple enough to engage budding readers. . . . Proffered with the lightest of touches, it's a story that readers can easily take to heart.”

—Publishers Weekly, starred review

“This cozy story is likely to hit the spot with many preschoolers and is a great choice for beginning readers.”

—School Library Journal

suegallion.com
wanart.com

MAZE

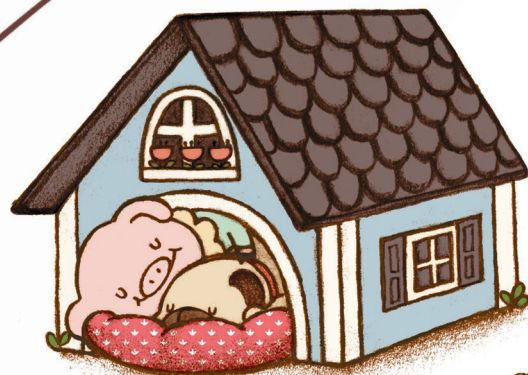

Can you help Pug and Pig find their way home?

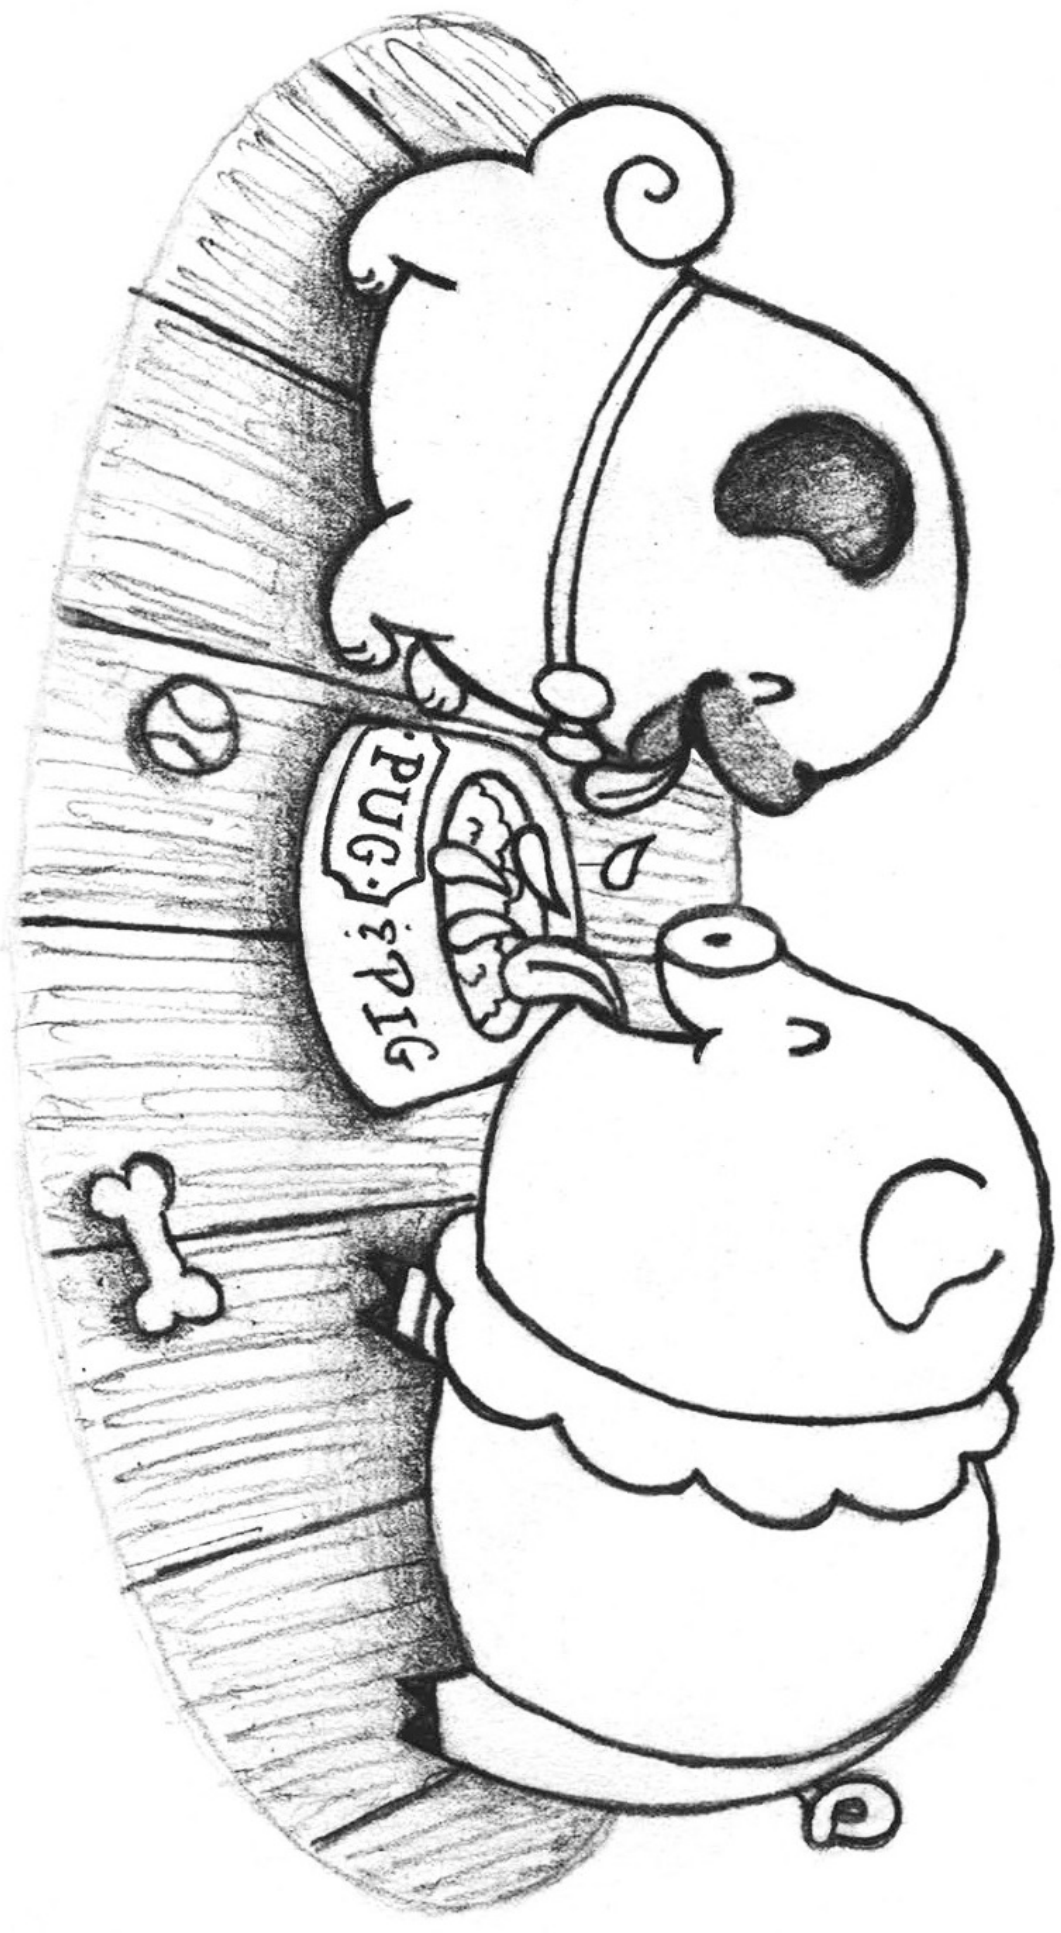

START

FINISH

COLOR PUG AND PIG

HOW DOES PUG FEEL?

Pug has a lot of different feelings over the course of this story.
Can you draw a line from the feeling word to the picture of Pug that matches it?

Happy

Sad

Mad

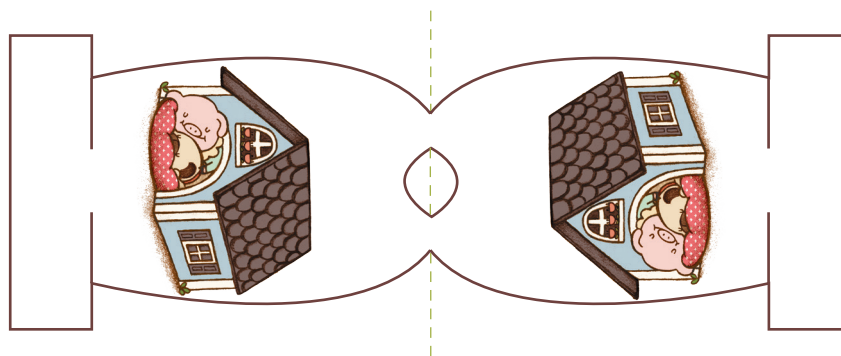

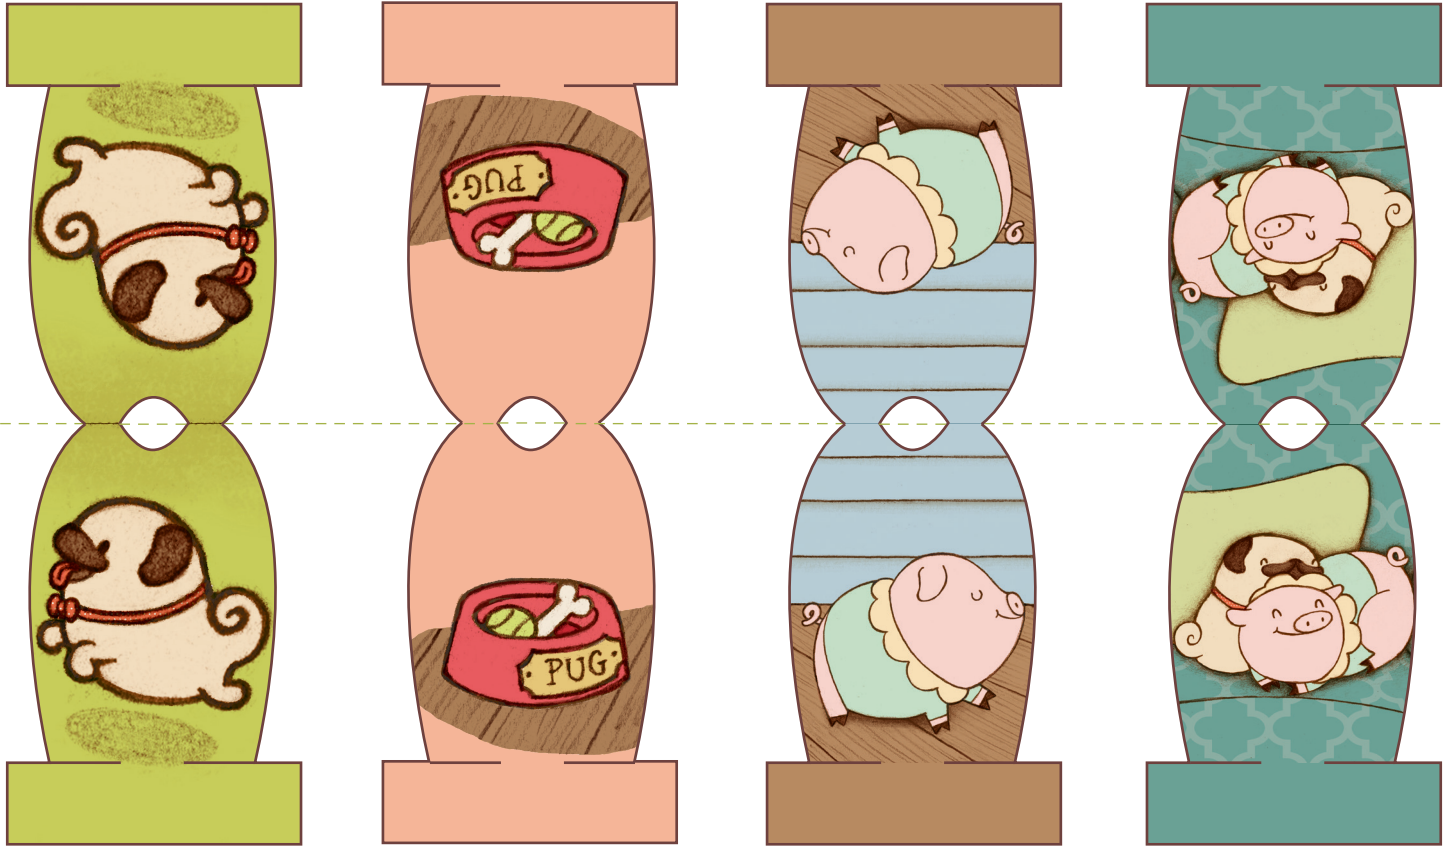

FRIENDSHIP BRACELETS

Cut out the bracelets below and use tape to secure them around a wrist.

PENCIL TOPPERS

Pug and Pig want to help you color and write stories!

INSTRUCTIONS

Cut out the pencil toppers on the solid lines, including the lines under each image and the openings at the top. Fold at the dotted lines to make two sides for each topper.

Put the eraser of your colored or number 2 pencil through the opening at the top, and wrap the bottom tabs around your pencil. Tape to secure.

Try these on crayons, too!